MEMORANDUM.

CIRCULAR.

Horse Guards, 12th February, 1845.

The General Officers charged with the Inspection of the Troops are held responsible for the rigid enforcement of her Majesty's Regulations with regard to Regimental Bands.

There can be but one Band in a Regiment, and that must, as a matter of course, accompany the Service Companies whithersoever they go.

It follows, then, that any Officer commanding a Regimental Depôt, who forms a Band, or permits a Band to exist in the Companies under his command, on any pretence whatsoever, takes upon himself to depart from her Majesty's Regulations in a particular materially affecting the efficiency of that portion of the Regiment.

These Regulations prescribe, that no Musicians are to be suffered as a component part of Regimental Depôts, which are entitled to their due proportion of the Regimental Drums and Fifes, or Bugles, only.

The number of Drummers on the Establishment of Regimental Depôts having been increased to Six, only Four Lads or Boys are to be permitted to act as Drummers, Fifers or Buglers, and these only so long as they are not of an age or stature to bear Arms; and no Man is, on any account, to be withdrawn or withheld from the Ranks for the purpose of being employed in an occupation which is intended to be confined to the Boys specially authorized to be enlisted for that purpose.

The plea of training Boys for the Regimental Band is altogether inadmissible; all such Boys, or other persons, enlisted specially for the Band, must be sent to the Service Companies with the first Draft after their Enlistment; they are, consequently, not to form the foundation of or a pretence for maintaining a Band with the Depôt Companies; and General Officers will, at their Inspection, personally examine the Numbers on Parade, and ascertain, conclusively, that no Man who ought to be in the Ranks of the Depôt Companies is employed as a Musician.

Moreover, they will exact from the Commanding Officer an assurance that no deception is resorted to on that head, and that the Officers are not required or permitted to contribute towards the Establishment of a Band at the Depôt, or subjected to any other expense, on account of Music, beyond the ordinary subscription prescribed by her Majesty's Regulations.

By Command of

FIELD MARSHAL THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON,
Commander-in-Chief;

JOHN MACDONALD, Adjutant-General.

INCORPORATED LAW SOCIETY

MEMORANDUM.

CIRCULAR.

Horse Guards, 12th February, 1845.

THE General Officers charged with the Inspection of the Troops are held responsible for the rigid enforcement of her Majesty's Regulations with regard to Regimental Bands.

There can be but one Band in a Regiment, and that must, as a matter of course, accompany the Service Companies whithersoever they go.

It follows, then, that any Officer commanding a Regimental Depôt, who forms a Band, or permits a Band to exist in the Companies under his command, on any pretence whatsoever, takes upon himself to depart from her Majesty's Regulations in a particular materially affecting the efficiency of that portion of the Regiment.

These Regulations prescribe, that no Musicians are to be suffered as a component part of Regimental Depôts, which are entitled to their due proportion of the Regimental Drums and Fifes, or Bugles, only.

The number of Drummers on the Establishment of Regimental Depôts having been increased to Six, only Four Lads or Boys are to be permitted to act as Drummers, Fifers or Buglers, and these only so long as they are not of an age or stature to bear Arms; and no Man is, on any account, to be withdrawn or withheld from the Ranks for the purpose of being employed in an occupation which is intended to be confined to the Boys specially authorized to be enlisted for that purpose.

The plea of training Boys for the Regimental Band is altogether inadmissible; all such Boys, or other persons, enlisted specially for the Band, must be sent to the Service Companies with the first Draft after their Enlistment; they are, consequently, not to form the foundation of or a pretence for maintaining a Band with the Depôt Companies; and General Officers will, at their Inspection, personally examine the Numbers on Parade, and ascertain, conclusively, that no Man who ought to be in the Ranks of the Depôt Companies is employed as a Musician.

Moreover, they will exact from the Commanding Officer an assurance that no deception is resorted to on that head, and that the Officers are not required or permitted to contribute towards the Establishment of a Band at the Depôt, or subjected to any other expense, on account of Music, beyond the ordinary subscription prescribed by her Majesty's Regulations.

By Command of

FIELD MARSHAL THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON,
Commander-in-Chief;

JOHN MACDONALD, Adjutant-General.
